

IICAQM 2022

The IICAQM 2022 7th Indian international conference held in IITM and HR auditorium from 29th November to 1st December which was attended by about 20 to 23 students each day from our school.

The Conference was basically about the current scenario of air quality in the Indo-Gangetic planes and Delhi especially. The program was hosted by several professors of IITM, Delhi, Mumbai, Guwahati and Kharagpur. Students of IITM and also a few schools participated.

We got to know in detailed about how the NCAPs. National clean air program and AQM calls work in every city. We also so got to know in detailed about how the e-vehicle and hydrogen fuel sense contribute to minimize air pollution. They said that through a lot of money and funds are provided by the NCAPs. It is not used properly at the right time due to some intermediates. In order to overcome this, they said that the needful co-operation from ULBs and from the public as well.

We got know the vulnerability of particulate matter. PM 2.5 and PM 10 in the air, we breathe and their various respiratory issues. We all felt so fortunate to be present among the best professors of IITs all around India and also people from universities like Harward, NIT Colifornia, Mahidot and such. The provided us snacks and lunch on all the three days. Some of us really got inspired to take up JEE and become like them.
