NATIONAL SCIENCE DAY CELEBRATION

National Science Day was celebrated with great enthusiasm across the Nursery, Primary, and Secondary sections of our school, offering students a vibrant platform to explore the wonders of science and its relevance to everyday life.

On February 28, 2025, our Nursery children took part in a variety of hands-on activities centered around engaging themes such as domestic and wild animals, water animals, birds, types of houses, community helpers, and indoor and outdoor games.

These interactive exhibits helped children understand the natural habitats and behaviors of different animals, while also exploring unique dwelling types like stilt houses, igloos, and tree houses. The significance of community helpers and the importance of play in physical and social development were also thoughtfully highlighted, making the day both educational and enjoyable for our little learners.

Continuing the celebration, on March 1, 2025, the Primary section hosted a vibrant science exhibition where students from Classes 1 to 5 showcased their creativity and scientific understanding through informative charts, eye-catching models, and live demonstrations. The exhibits captured the keen interest of our Principal In-charge, section heads, and teachers, who appreciated the students' enthusiasm and effort. What truly stood out was the spirit of peer learning —students visited each other's displays, asked thought-provoking questions, and shared insights, creating a collaborative and inquisitive atmosphere. Through this hands-on experience, students developed vital 21st-century skills like critical thinking, problem-solving, and effective communication.

On the same day, Class 9 students celebrated National Science Day with equal fervour through a variety of engaging activities. They participated in a science quiz, model presentations, and an interactive discussion on the year's theme, sparking thoughtful conversations and deepening their appreciation for scientific advancements. The event also highlighted the contributions of great scientists like C.V. Raman, inspiring students to think beyond textbooks and explore the real-world impact of science. It was a fun, insightful experience that further fueled their passion for scientific inquiry.

Overall, the National Science Day celebrations across all sections were a resounding success, igniting curiosity and encouraging students to observe, question, and discover the world around them with scientific temper and enthusiasm.
